Your home is FILLED with stuff ...
Yet you feel empty.

Your life feels messy and unorganised. You're exhausted, overwhelmed and straight out embarrassed by the state of your home. Even the idea of hosting guests inspires a cold sweat.

You want more ... but NOT more stuff.

You want more meaning. More purpose. More passion. More space.

I'm Zoe Strawbridge: self-declared sugar addict, café-hopper, dog-cuddler and your resident aesthetics guru & interior design nerd.

Through one-on-one virtual mentoring, I guide women longing for more to clear the clutter, simplify their stuff, create meaningful homes and spaces and feel lighter with less.

I specialise in a design style called 'Minimalism with Heart' which harnesses the principles of design to solve lifestyle problems and create a simpler, happier and lighter life.

My motto is 'have less, do more'.

I believe:

- Good design doesn't need to be expensive.
- Your home should reflect your personality and lifestyle.
- You deserve to see results (that you love).
- You deserve to love how your home makes you feel.
- Everything you own and do should have passion and purpose.

Together, let's simplify your stuff, cull your clutter and reinvent your living spaces.
